TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I, Margery J. Galbraith, a native English speaker residing in Brazil since 1974, have been involved in the translation of a wide range of technical documents since 1979, and in review and translation of scientific articles related to dentistry and medicine since 1982. Furthermore, I declare that I am a full partner and co-director of Galbraith Comunicações Ltda, and apart from my company activities, I work as a freelance translator.

I hereby certify that I translated the article entitled “Endocrown: a conservative approach” into English in December, 2014, at the request of Rafael Menezes Silva, BDS., MDS., PhD student in Applied Dental Sciences, Bauru Dental School, University of São Paulo, Bauru/SP, Brazil.

Any changes made to the manuscript after this translation will be for the author’s responsibility.
