Experimental procedures in humans and animals

BDS endorses the principles embodied in the Declaration of Helsinki and insists that all investigations involving human beings reported in BDS articles be carried out in conformity with these principles. Authors reporting on their experimental work in humans or animals should also cite evidence in the Method and Materials section of the article that this work has been approved by the Ethics' Research Committee from its respective institution. Experiments involving surgical procedures in animals must describe evidences that the anesthetic dosages produced the necessary effect during the time of the procedure. Editors/Associate Editors are expected to refuse papers in which evidence of the adherence to these principles is not apparent. They reserve the right to judge the appropriateness of the use of animals and humans in experiments published in the journals. Signature of each author is required in the same order as on the manuscript title page. (Fax signatures, multiple forms are acceptable.)
